

Where There's A Will ...

If certain ideals are important to one's life and the things one believes in, it is only natural to want to have a permanent impact on them. For a growing number of Lions, planned giving can be an answer that brings with it membership in the WLF Lions Pride Safari Legacy Society (see www.lionspride.org).

While there are many approaches to planned giving, if Lions Camp and other statewide WLF projects have real personal meaning, a simple way is to include the permanent WLF Lions Pride Endowment Fund in one's will.

To PDG Dave and Lion Darlene Hempel this idea was a natural. Their thoughts ...

"I don't remember the exact year, but the first time we visited Lions Camp, two of the new cabins had been built and the rest of the Camp was pretty rustic. Since that time the Lions replaced the rest of the cabins, added a new dining hall and medical building, making our Camp a first class facility.

"What is more impressive is what happens at Camp. The testimonials from the children and their families about how the Lions Camp experience has made a difference in their lives are near and dear to our hearts.

"Therefore, in addition to our five-year commitment, we have also decided to give a portion of our estate to the PRIDE CAMPAIGN to insure the Camp's future. We want to be part of making sure this "jewel" is there forever!"
